

ArtemisWorx

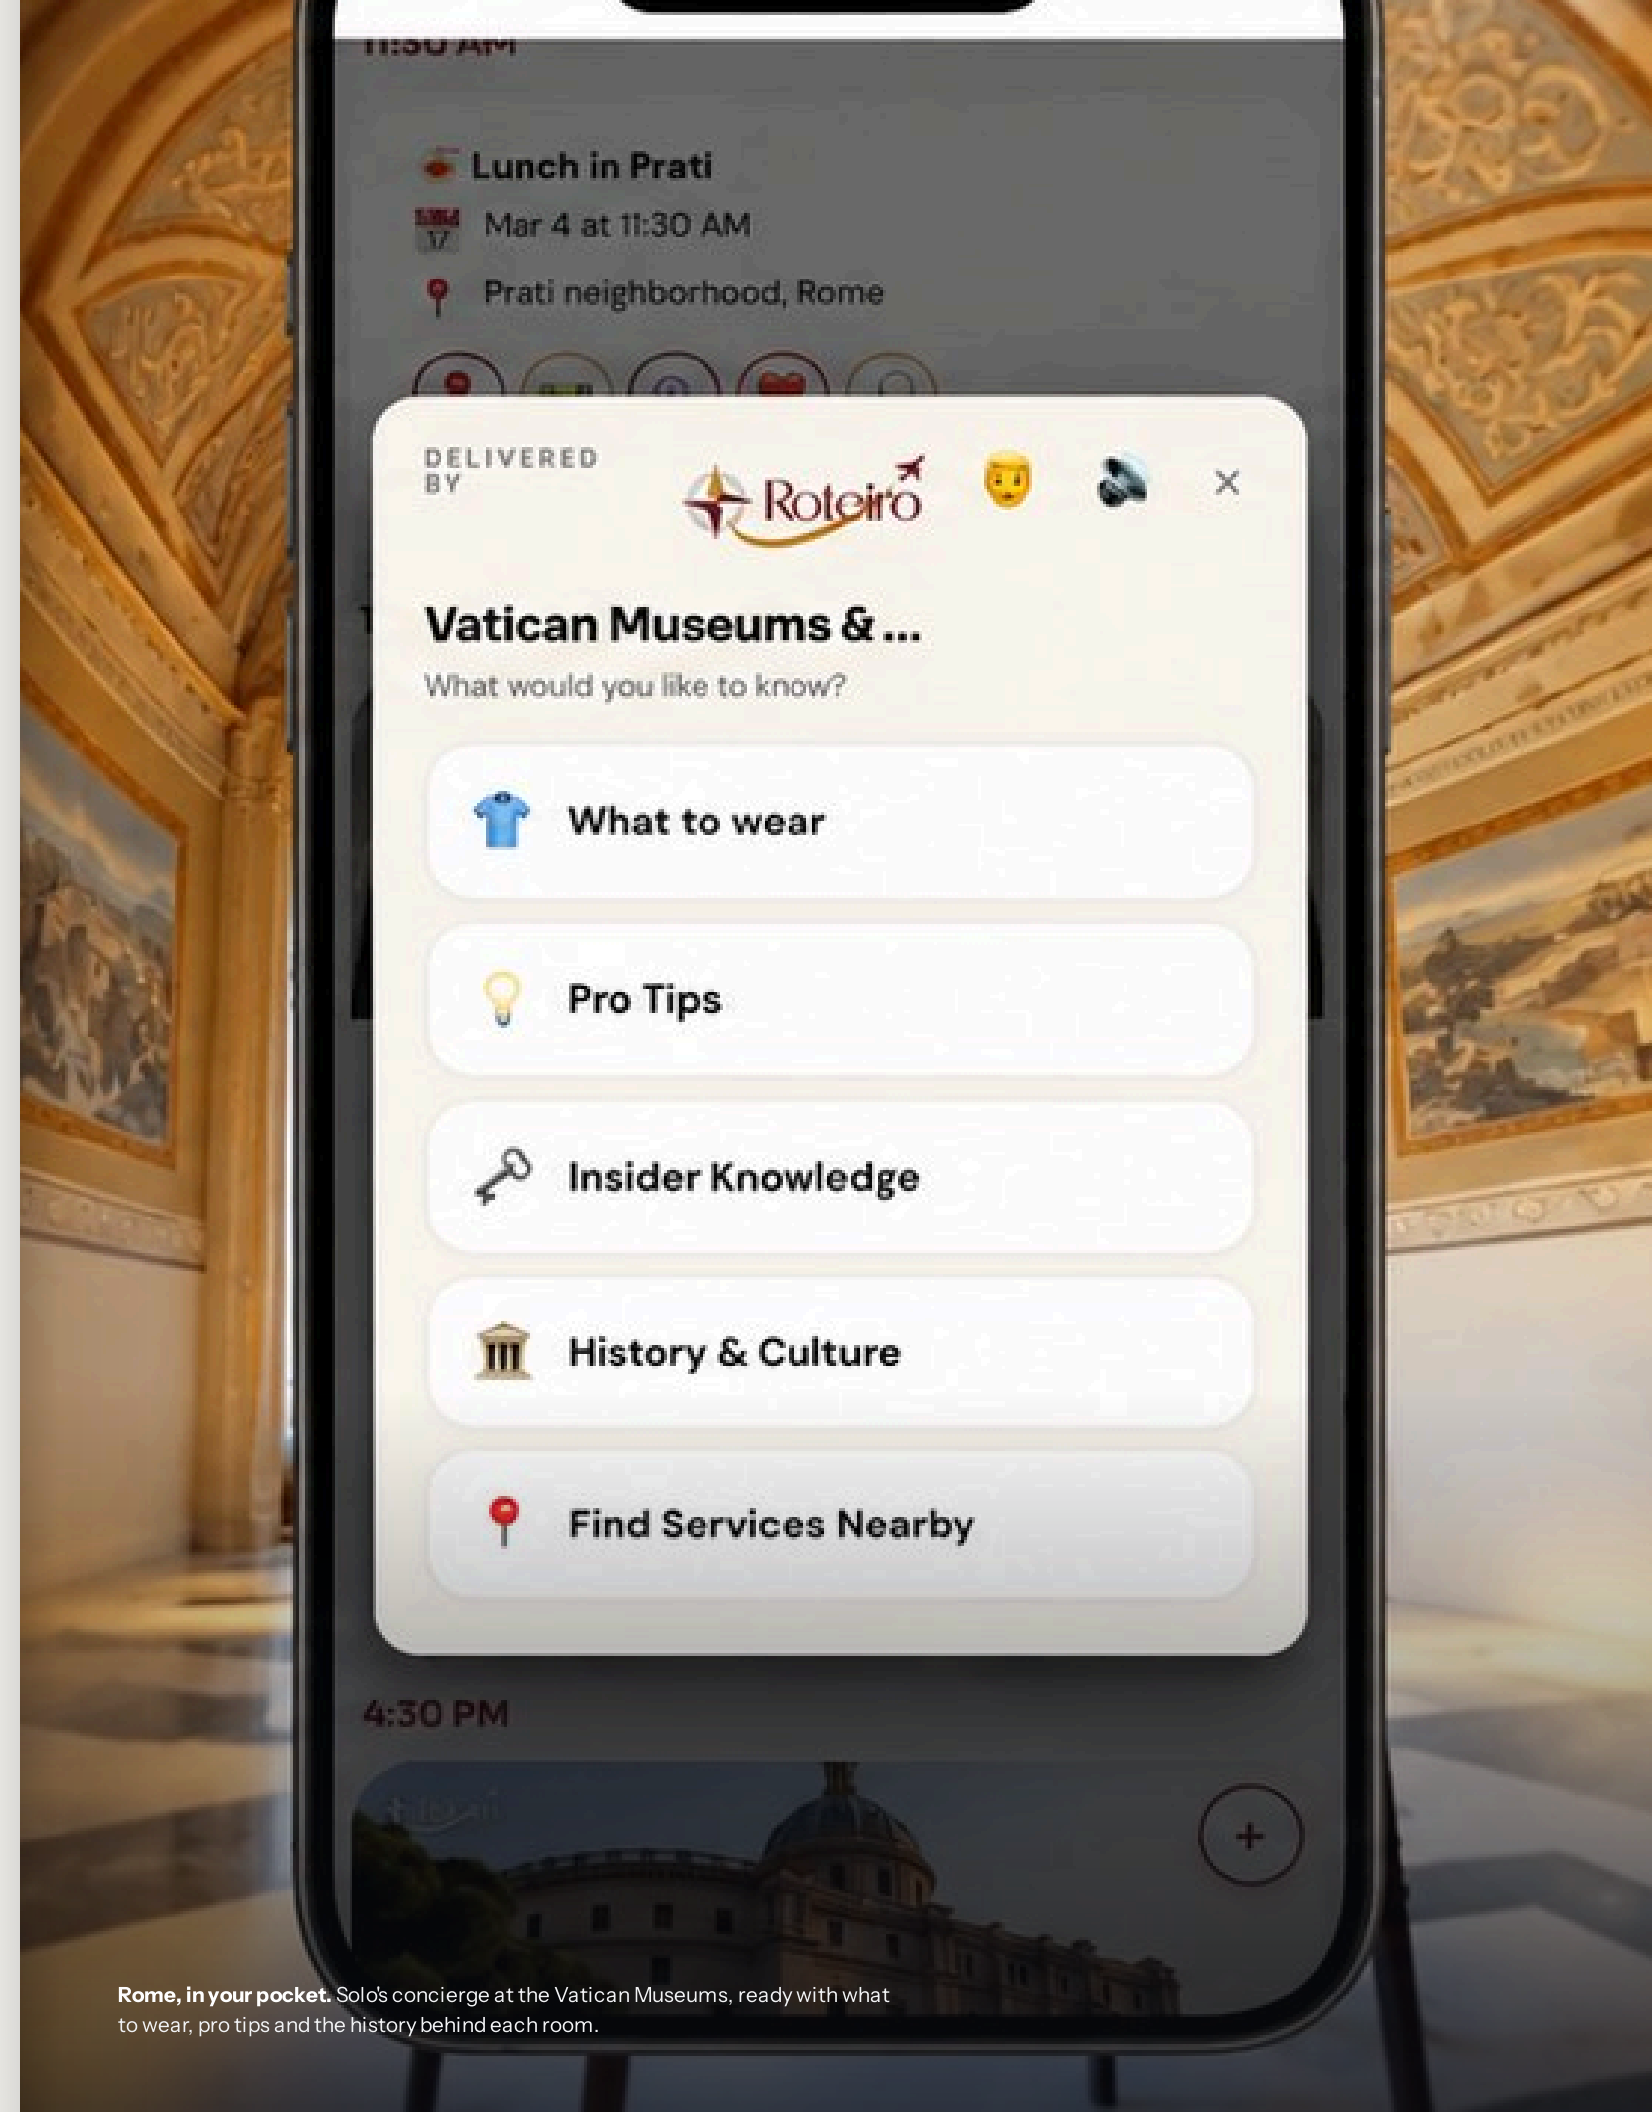

Bringing the fun back to travel

Meet the quiet innovator turning travel bookings into intelligent apps that speak in your own voice.

There is a moment every traveler knows well. You land in an unfamiliar city, your phone buzzing with scattered confirmation emails, and you cannot quite remember which hotel comes first or how to ask for directions in the local language. It is the small friction that dims the joy of exploration. ArtemisWorx LLC set out to erase that friction entirely, and in doing so, the company is quietly reshaping how people experience the world.

*The vision behind
ArtemisWorx*

ArtemisWorx is not a single-product company. It is a software studio building tools across medical device sales, travel, and language translation. Its growing family includes Solo, Roteiro AI, Rent Week, RepEdge AI, and its newest arrival, Spēk. Each product shares a common thread: the belief that smart technology should feel personal, intuitive, and genuinely helpful. The founder describes the mission simply. ArtemisWorx wants to bring the fun back to travel. That may sound modest, but the ambition behind it is significant. While larger companies chase bloated all-in-one platforms, ArtemisWorx is taking a focused, thoughtful approach. The result is a suite of products that solve real problems without overwhelming the people who use them.

“Smart technology should feel personal, intuitive, and genuinely helpful.”

Solo

Your trip, transformed into an app

At the heart of the travel lineup is Solo. The concept is refreshingly clear. You forward your PDF confirmations and booking emails, and Solo transforms them into a personalized, AI-powered travel companion app built just for your trip. Instead of digging through your inbox, you open one app that holds everything. Solo parses your bookings and builds a clean, day-by-day itinerary. It tracks your flights live, delivering gate and delay information the moment it changes. It stores QR codes, sends reminders, and works offline when you need it most. A 24/7 AI travel assistant answers questions specific to your activities, and a shareable photo gallery lets you keep the memories in one place.

Back to my trip Spēk Speak when needed

Hi! Hi! This app translates. Hold the green button and speak.

Hold to talk

Tokyo, with Spēk built in. Hold, talk, release, and the ramen counter hears you in Japanese.

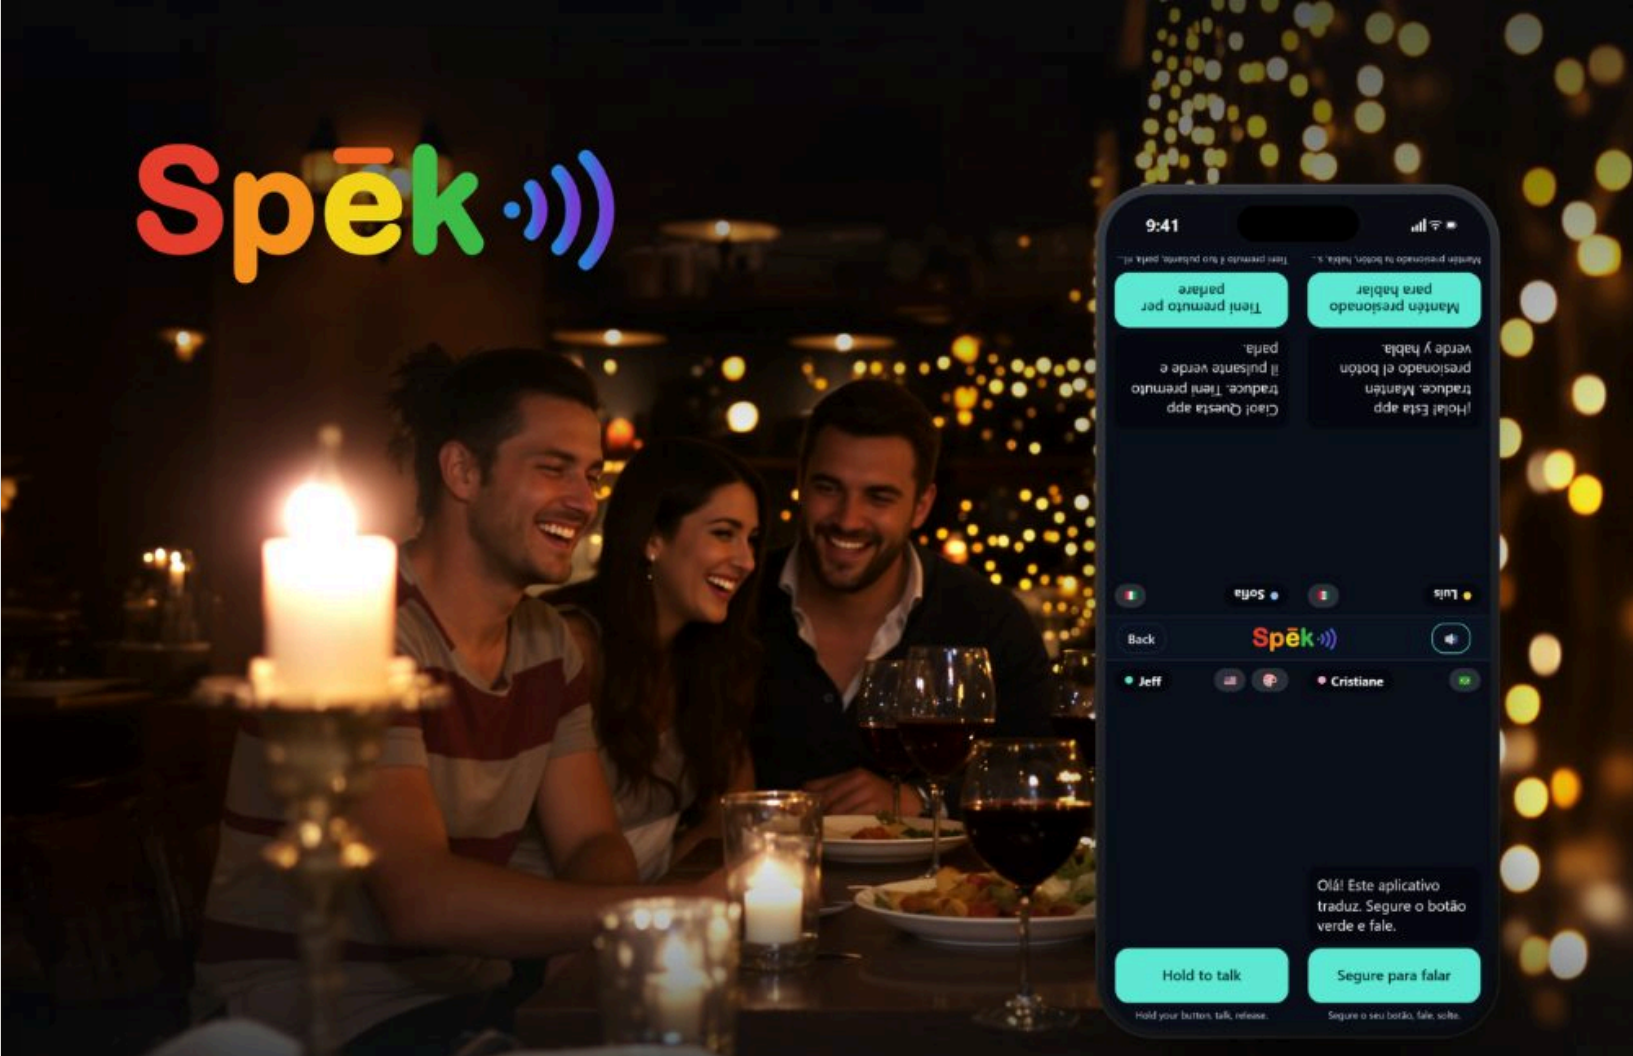

The pricing reflects the same honesty found throughout the brand. There is no subscription. You start for free and pay only when you publish, at $9.99 per trip. You can even share your finished app with up to ten people, which makes group travel remarkably easier to coordinate.

Travelers can choose one of two routes. They can have Solo build the app for them, or they can build it themselves. Either way, the experience is designed to be effortless, real-time, and reliable, even when the Wi-Fi disappears.

AN ARTEMISWORX COMPANY

Spēk

A translator that speaks in your voice

Embedded inside every Solo trip app is the product that truly sets ArtemisWorx apart. Spēk is a live translator that speaks in twenty-one languages, and it does so using your very own cloned voice.

Consider how different that feels. Traditional translation apps produce robotic, impersonal speech. Spēk lets you speak to a shopkeeper in Rome, a taxi driver in Tokyo, or a new friend in Lisbon, and the words come out sounding like you. It is not just translation. It is connection. It removes the wall that language so often builds between travelers and the people they meet.

“It is not just translation. It is connection.”

Spēk is available inside Solo, and it also stands on its own for anyone who wants to speak a new language in their own voice. That flexibility makes it useful far beyond travel. Students, professionals, and curious learners can all benefit from a tool that makes a foreign tongue feel natural and personal.

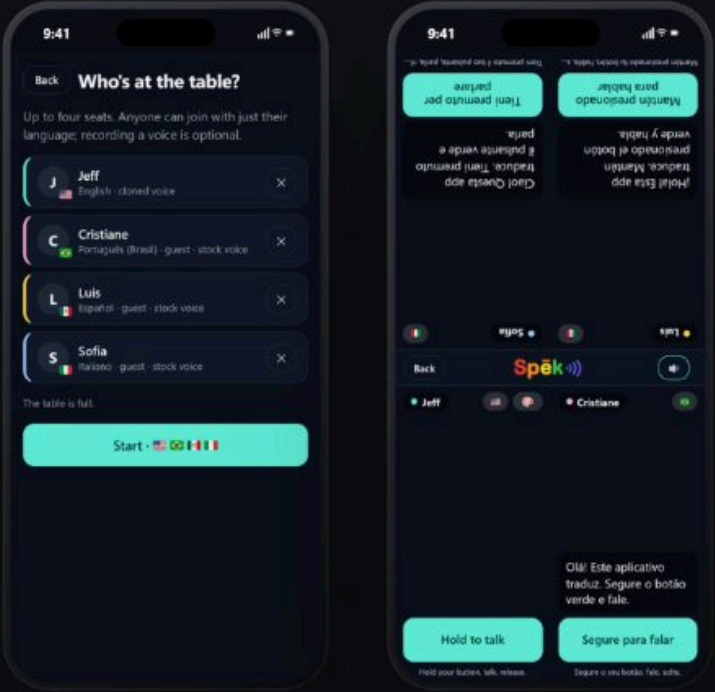

The combination of Solo and Spēk creates something the market has not seen before. Together, they empower travelers to have deeper, more meaningful trips, the kind you remember for the right reasons.

TABLE TALK

Roteiro AI

Built for travel agencies

While Solo and Spøk serve individual travelers, ArtemisWorx has not forgotten the professionals who build itineraries for a living. Roteiro AI brings the same intelligent, app-building power to travel agencies.

Agencies can create polished, branded trip apps for their clients at scale. They gain the same real-time updates, offline access, and AI assistance that travelers love, packaged in a way that strengthens their service and sets them apart from competitors. For an industry constantly searching for ways to add value, Roteiro AI offers a genuine edge.

This dual focus, serving both travelers and agents, shows the thoughtfulness behind the ArtemisWorx strategy. The company is not chasing one audience. It is building a connected ecosystem where individuals and professionals both win.

“A connected ecosystem where individuals and professionals both win.”

What makes ArtemisWorx different

Plenty of apps promise to organize your travels. Very few deliver what ArtemisWorx has assembled in one place. According to the company, it is the only travel app with built-in cloned-voice translation, a full activity-specific AI concierge, live flight updates, Google and TripAdvisor reviews, offline mode, and a shareable photo corkboard.

Cloned-voice translation

Twenty-one languages, spoken in your own voice.

AI concierge

Guidance specific to every activity on the itinerary.

Live flight updates

Gate and delay changes the moment they happen.

Google and TripAdvisor reviews

Ratings for the places on your plan, in the app.

Offline mode

Still working deep in a foreign city with no signal.

Shareable photo corkboard

The trip's memories, organized and easy to share.

“The feature that turns a useful app into an unforgettable one.”

That is a remarkable list, and each feature answers a real traveler frustration. The AI concierge means you always have guidance. The live flight updates mean fewer surprises at the gate. The offline mode means the app still works when you are deep in a foreign city with no signal. The shareable corkboard means your memories stay organized and easy to enjoy with the people you love.

The cloned-voice translation, however, is the differentiator that people remember. It is the feature that turns a useful app into an unforgettable one. It is also the clearest example of what ArtemisWorx does best: taking advanced technology and making it feel warm, human, and personal.

“Real innovation rarely arrives with noise.”

A quiet disruption worth watching

ArtemisWorx is not shouting for attention. It is building, launching, and refining products that speak for themselves. The company describes its own approach as quietly disrupting the travel industry, and that description fits. Real innovation rarely arrives with noise. It arrives with tools that make life noticeably better.

For travelers tired of juggling confirmation emails, for agencies searching for a competitive advantage, and for anyone who has ever wished they could speak another language in their own voice, ArtemisWorx has built something worth exploring. This is only the beginning, and the momentum is clearly building.

Start your next journey with Solo and Spēk

If you want your next trip to feel effortless, connected, and genuinely fun, now is the time to try Solo. Forward your booking confirmations, watch your personal travel app come to life, and let Spēk help you speak the world's languages in your own voice. Travel agencies ready to impress their clients can discover how Roteiro AI transforms itineraries into powerful, branded apps. Explore the products and experience the future of travel that ArtemisWorx is quietly building today. ■
